Foreword

The footsteps that cross these pages will always be for us, the class of 1952, symbols of the friendships and the accomplishments that have attended our progress through Towson High School. To this ideal of progress we dedicate our yearbook.

We have walked the pathways of school life sometimes gaily, sometimes seriously, following in the footsteps of those who went before us and established the Towson traditions and the Towson spirit.

Our steps were guided by our associates in the faculty and the administration, by our elected class officers, and by our school leaders.

We have benefited by following the footsteps and we hope that we in turn have formed paths to guide others in their journey toward knowledge and the good life.

Mr. W. Horace Wheeler, principal of Towson High School since 1945, is well known for his youthful spirit and keen sense of humor. Through his sincerity, his interest in each individual and his desire that each should reach the highest attainments possible, he has shown his ability as a leader and administrator.

Mr. Wheeler has made a secure place for himself in the heart and mind of each student.

The administration provides

Miss R. Louise Balls serves as vice-principal of Towson. Her duties are numerous and her understanding sincere. In handling the disciplinary problems of the school, Miss Balls has shown her graciousness, poise and patience.

This year Mr. Austin Bittle has become a full-time member of the administrative staff, taking care of all the school's supplies and the many odd administrative jobs which must be done.

Miss Ruth Wack and Mr. James Leslie are able and understanding counselors of the guidance department, ever-ready to help with students' problems and post-graduate planning.

In the school library Mrs. Sally Clevenger and Miss Burleigh Kehler ably guide students in the selection of books and the location of information. Mrs. Elizabeth Payne, the nurse, can be found in the health suite administering to the sick.

Office records, mimeographing and correspondence are efficiently handled by the principal's secretary, Miss Betty Manser, and office clerks, Miss Shirley Chelton and Mrs. Evelyn Harr.

We are very grateful to these important administrators of the school for their patient and understanding guidance.

SENIOR DAY

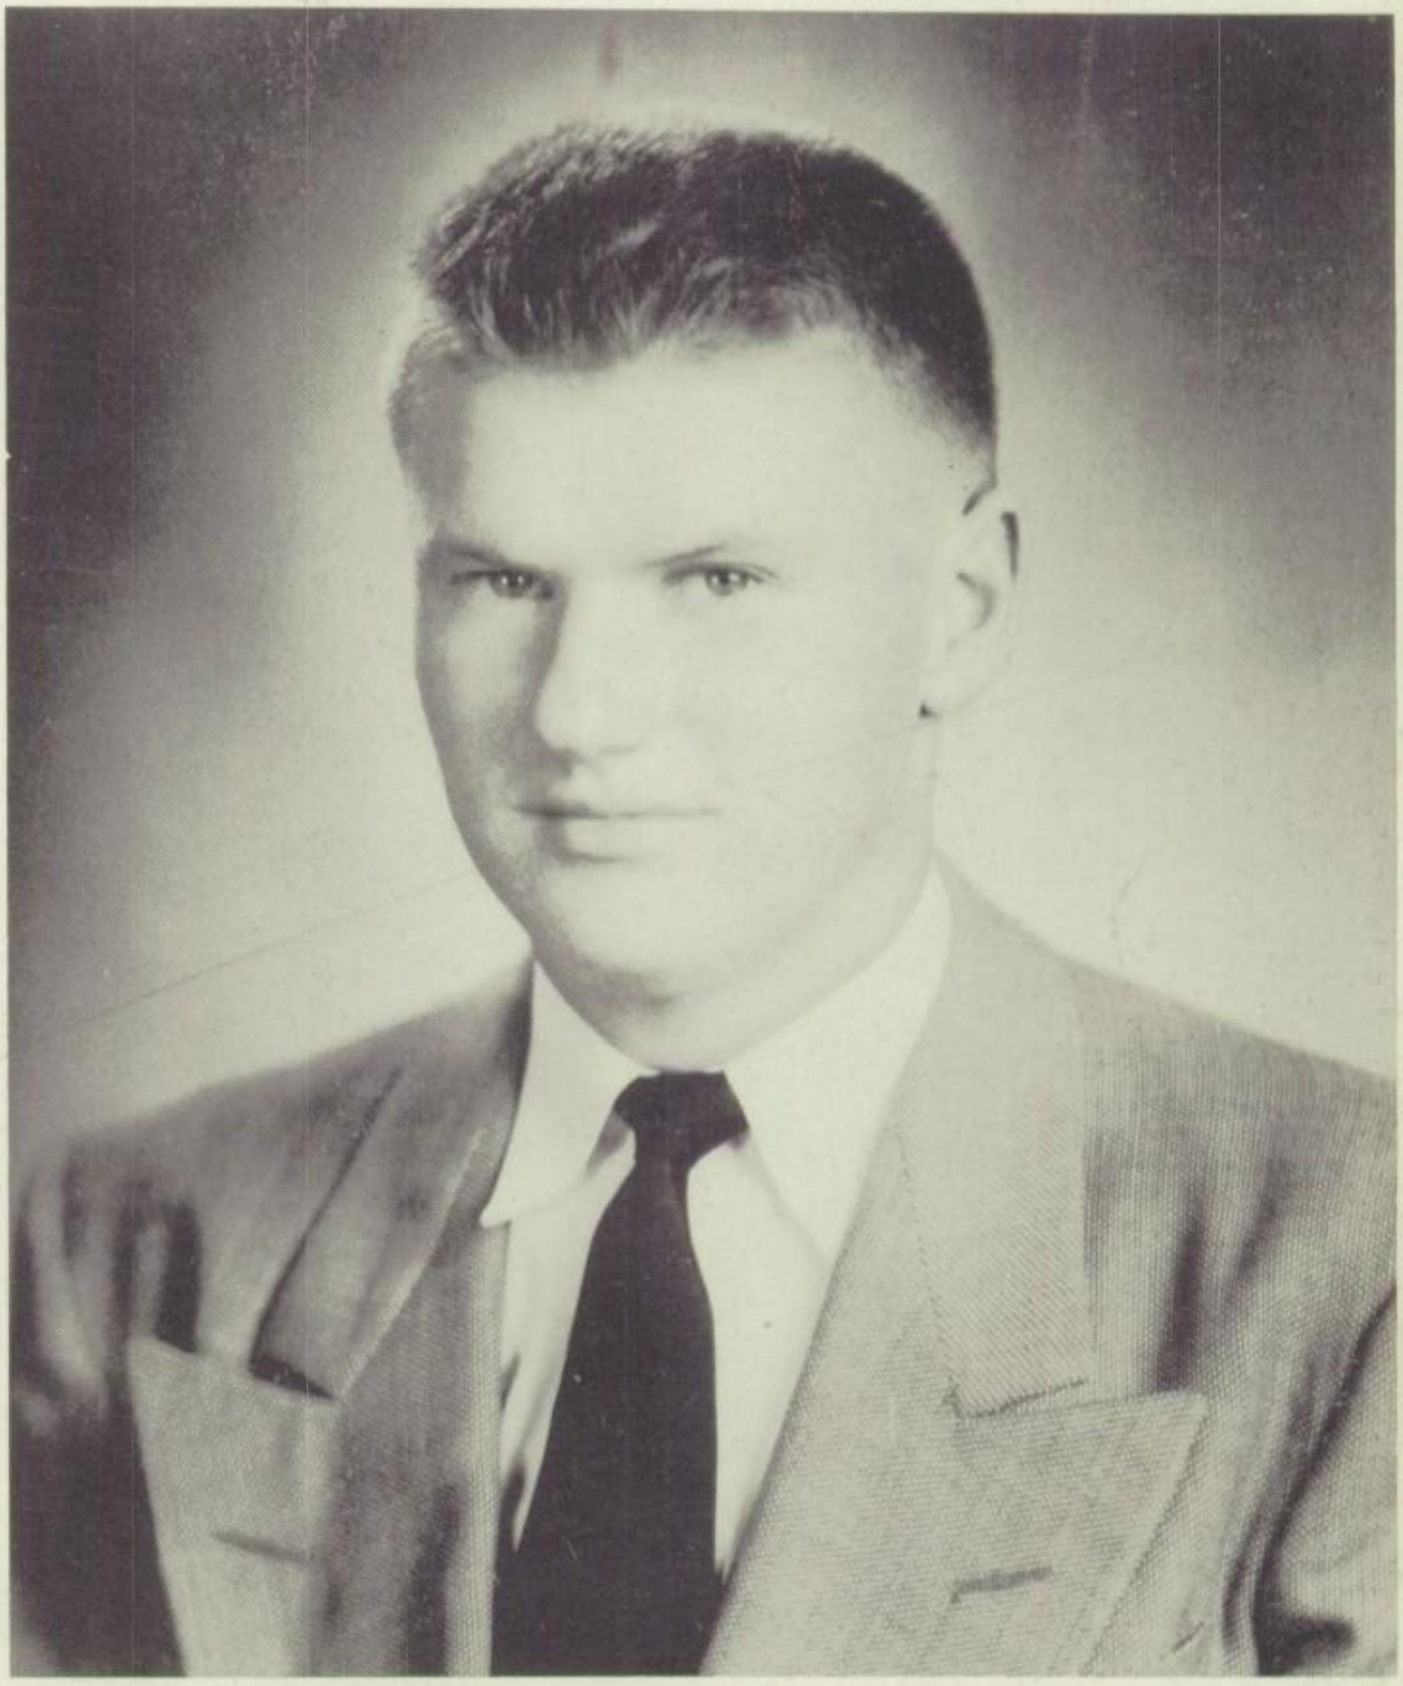
And so a farewell...

To our teachers who have befriended and guided us, to the underclassmen who have trusted us and to our friends whose loyalty has encouraged us to hold our heads high while filling the footsteps of Towson Traditions.

With our heads high we have glimpsed the future, but we shall never forget the outstanding past of high school life. We have had fun and many moments will be remembered with laughter. Above all we hope to carry with us through life some particles of wisdom gained through knowledge.

And so a farewell, but we shall be reminded again and again in the years to come — "Our strong bonds can ne'er be broken, Formed at Towson High—".

In memoriam . . .



HAROLD D. ISENNOCK
1934—1952

He is not dead—this friend—not dead,
But in the path we mortals tread
Got some few trifling steps ahead,
    And nearer to the end;
So that you, too, once past the bend,
Shall meet again, as face to face, this friend
    You fancy dead.

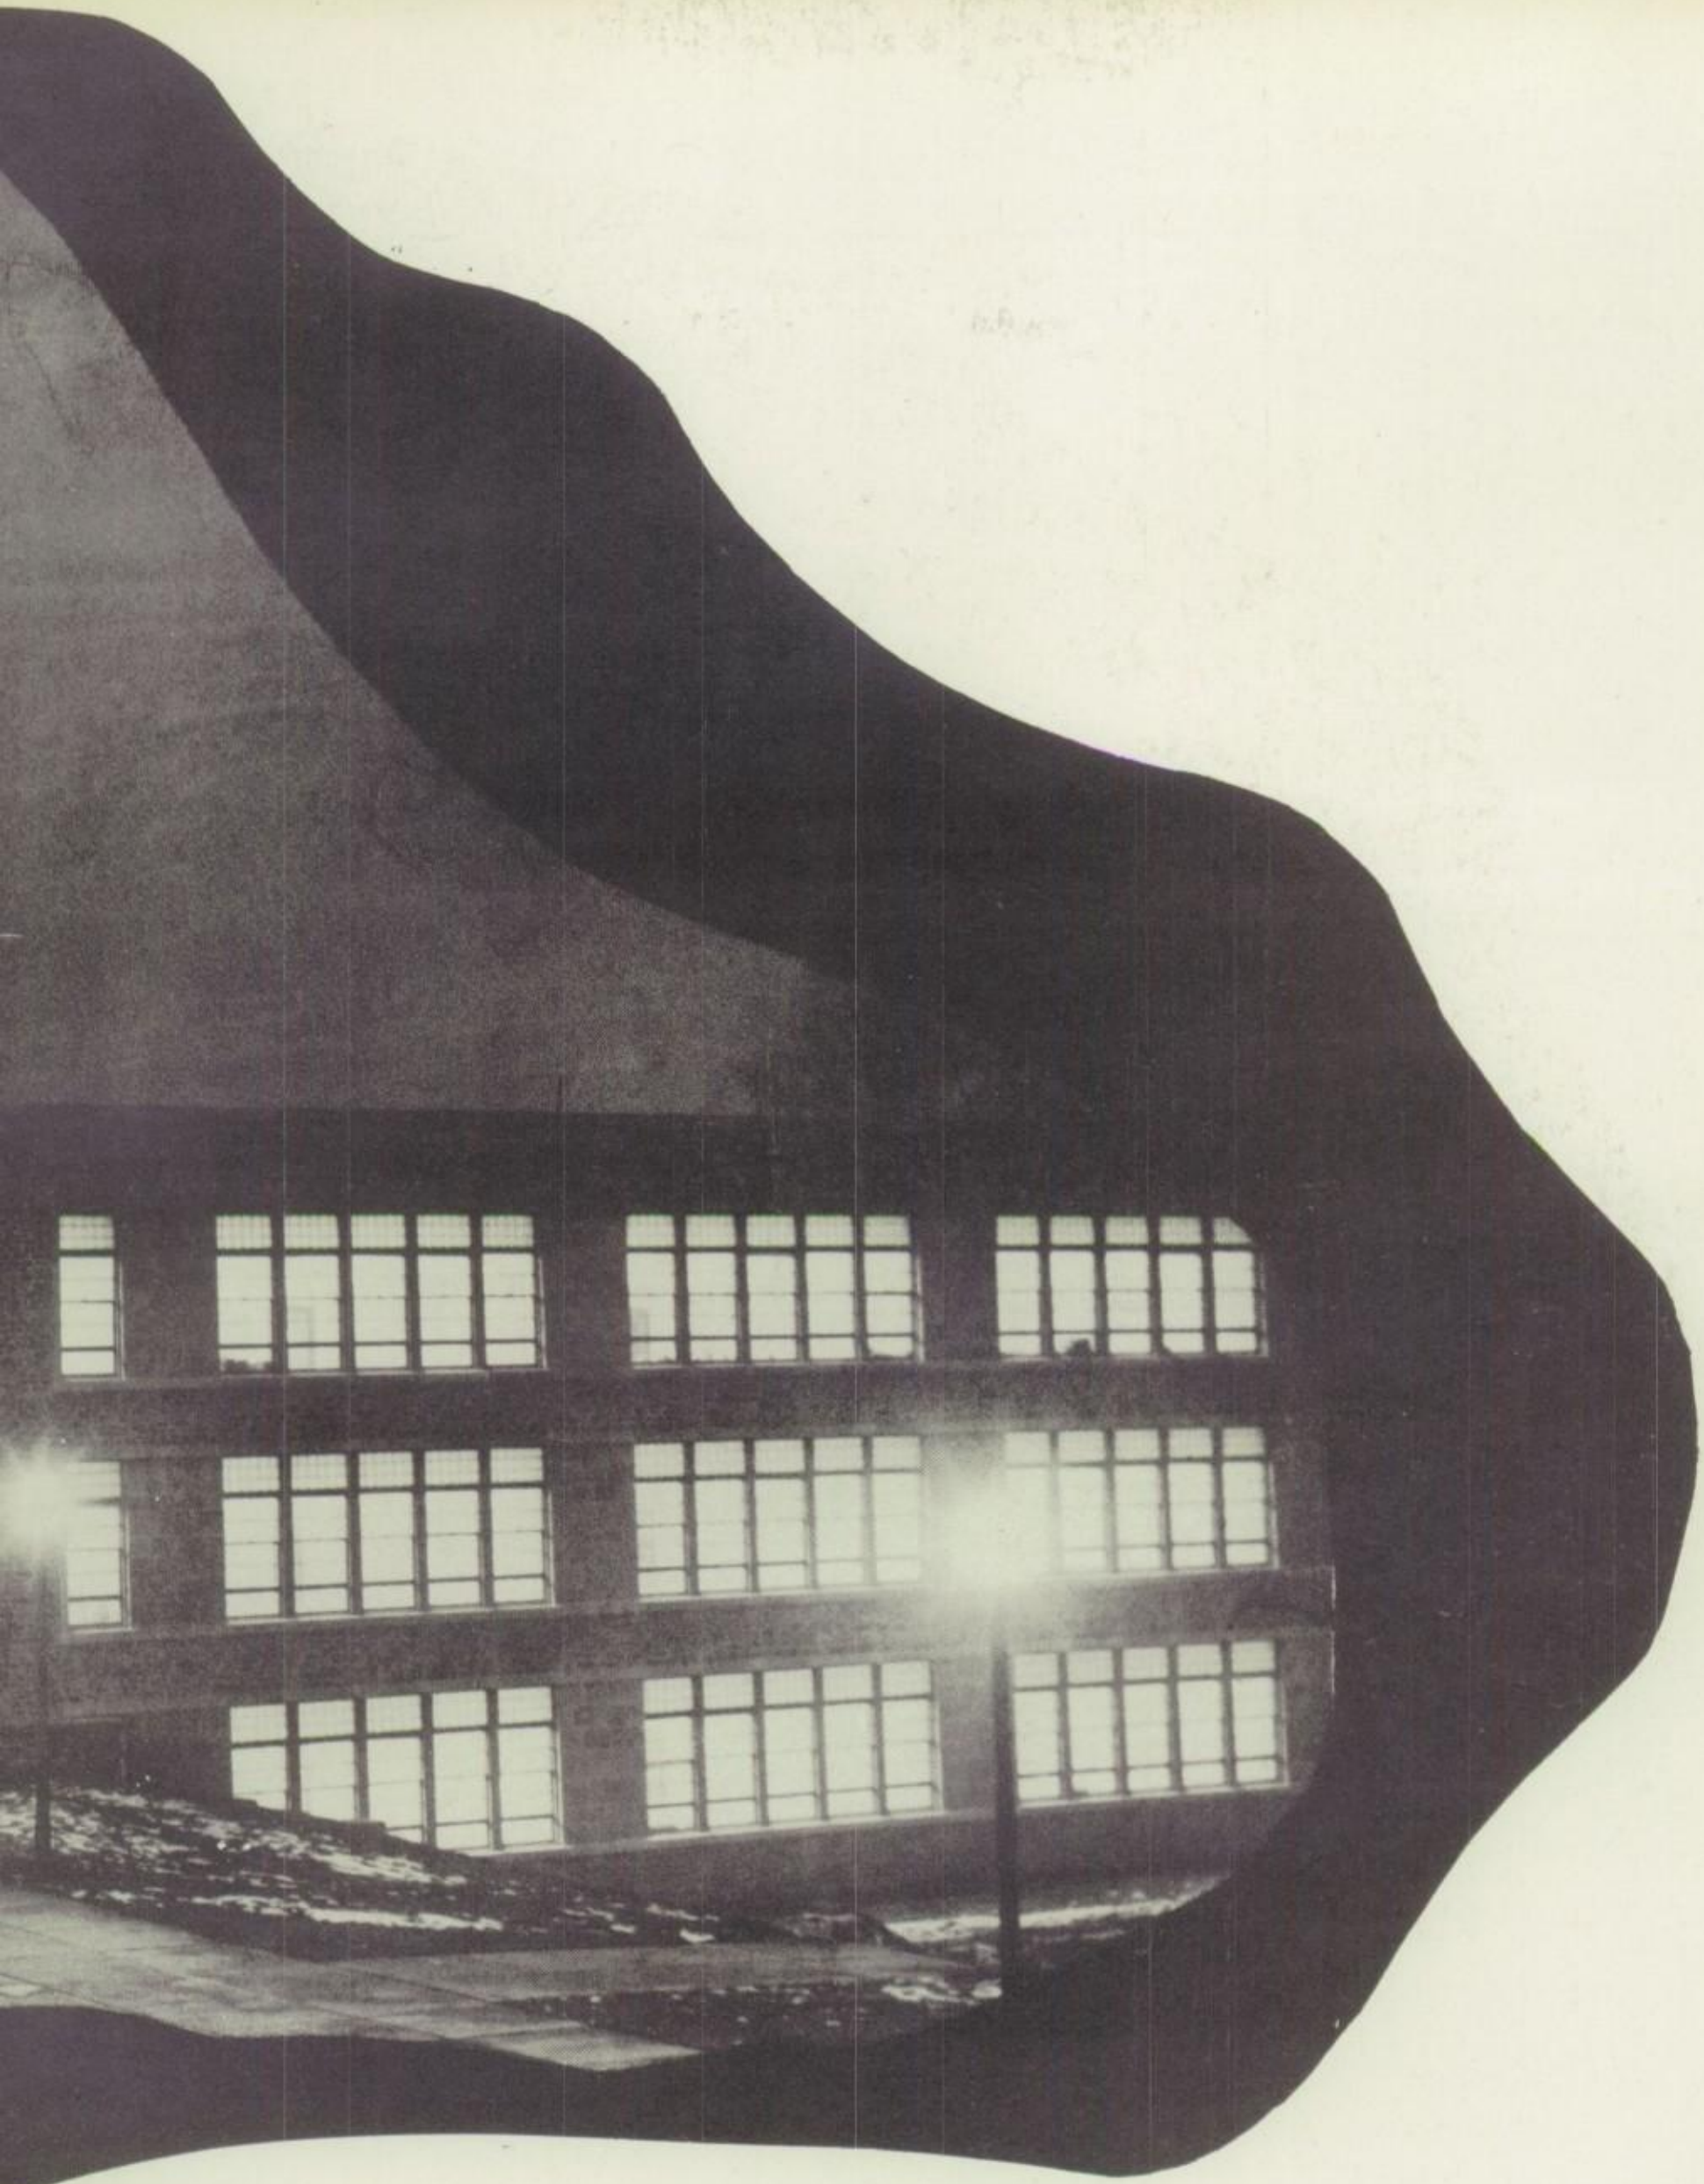
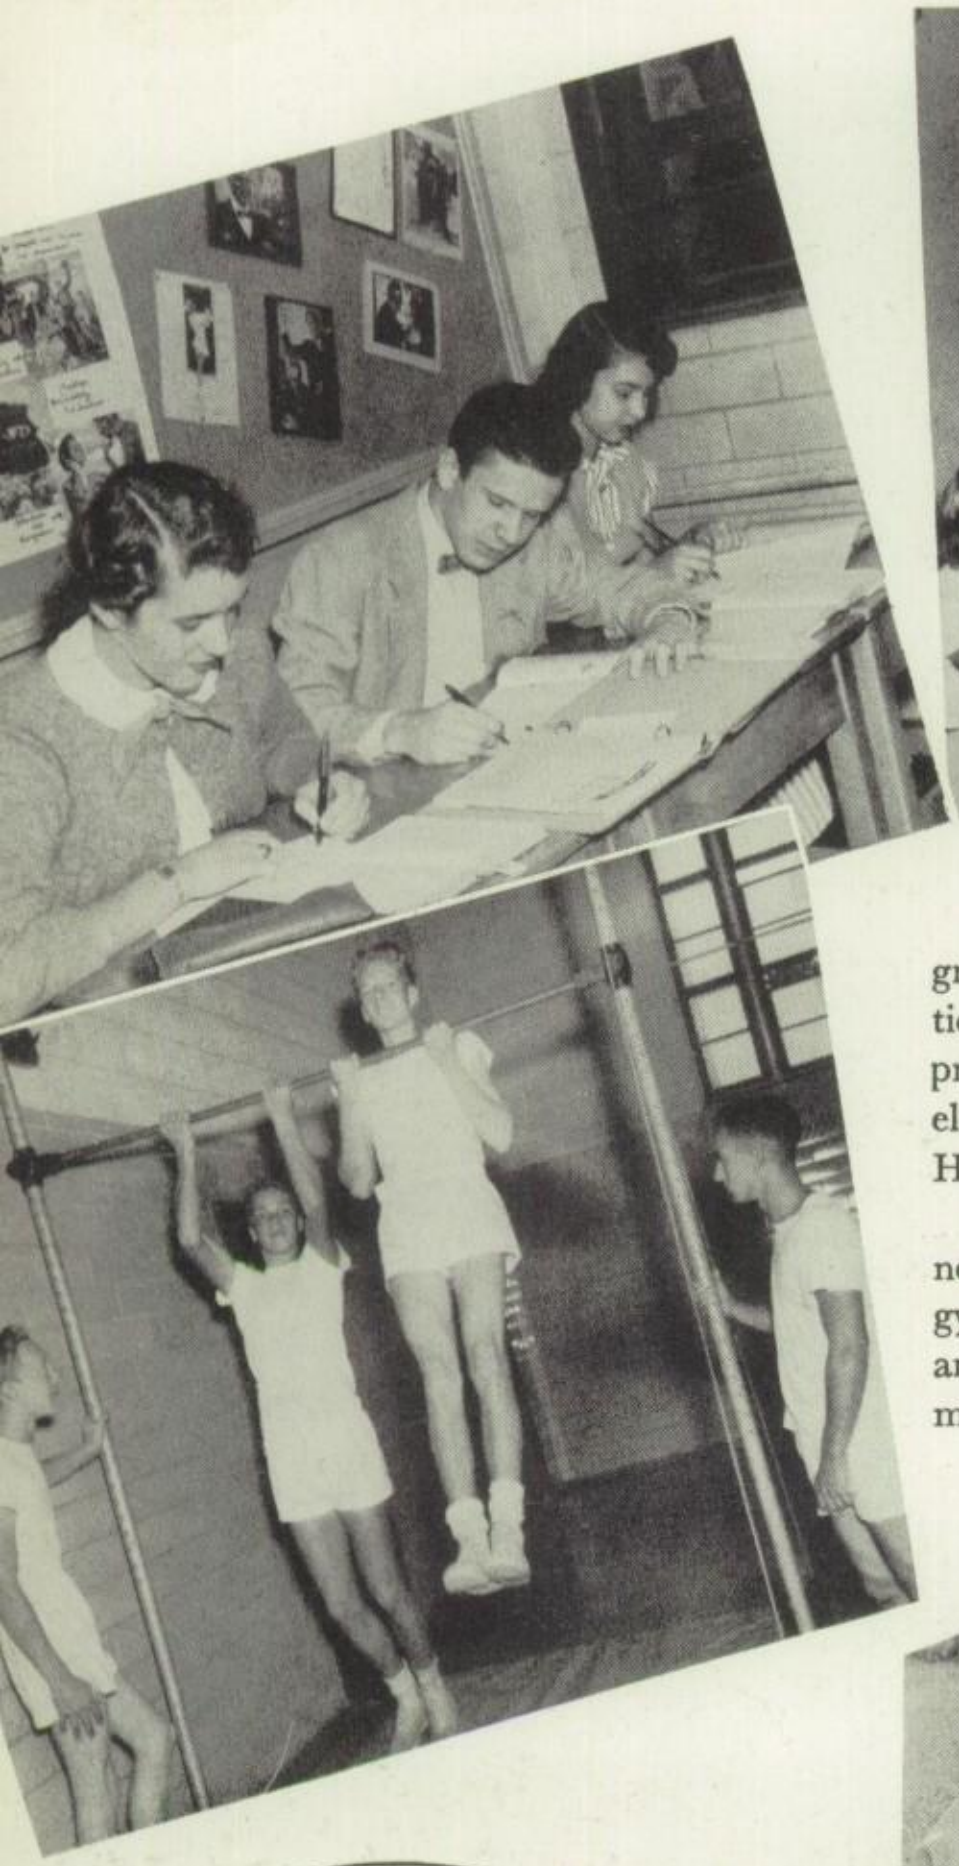
School



Life

Promoting democracy means better living.



Social Studies is required in the tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades. The courses cover, respectively, the development of civilization, the growth of the United States, and the personal and social problems of youth today. The department offers two history electives; Economic Geography, and Modern and Contemporary History.

In Physical Education classes students are introduced to many new sports and given the opportunity of participating in them. The gym classes play basketball, soccer, volleyball, field hockey, baseball and softball. During the winter pupils are taught tumbling, badminton, deck tennis and square dancing.

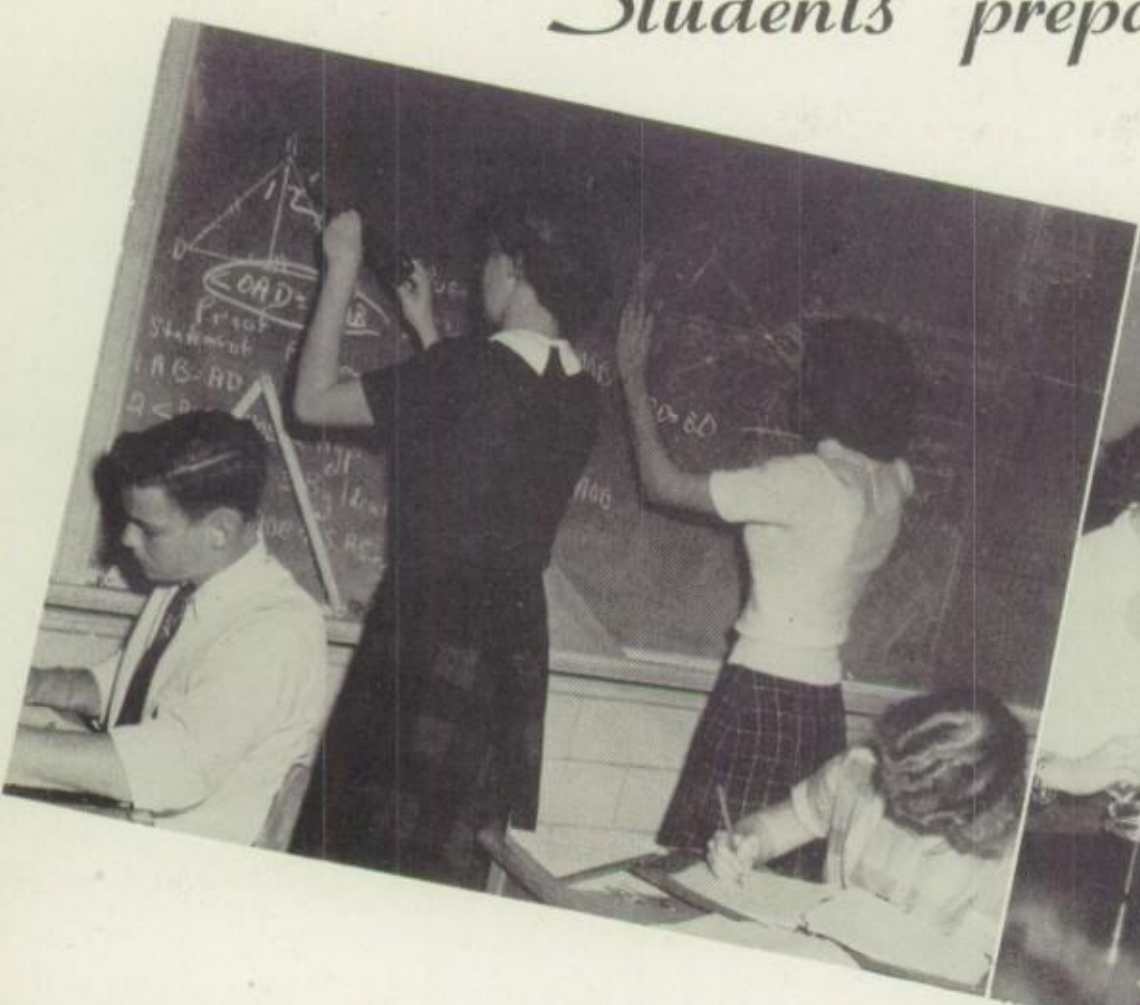
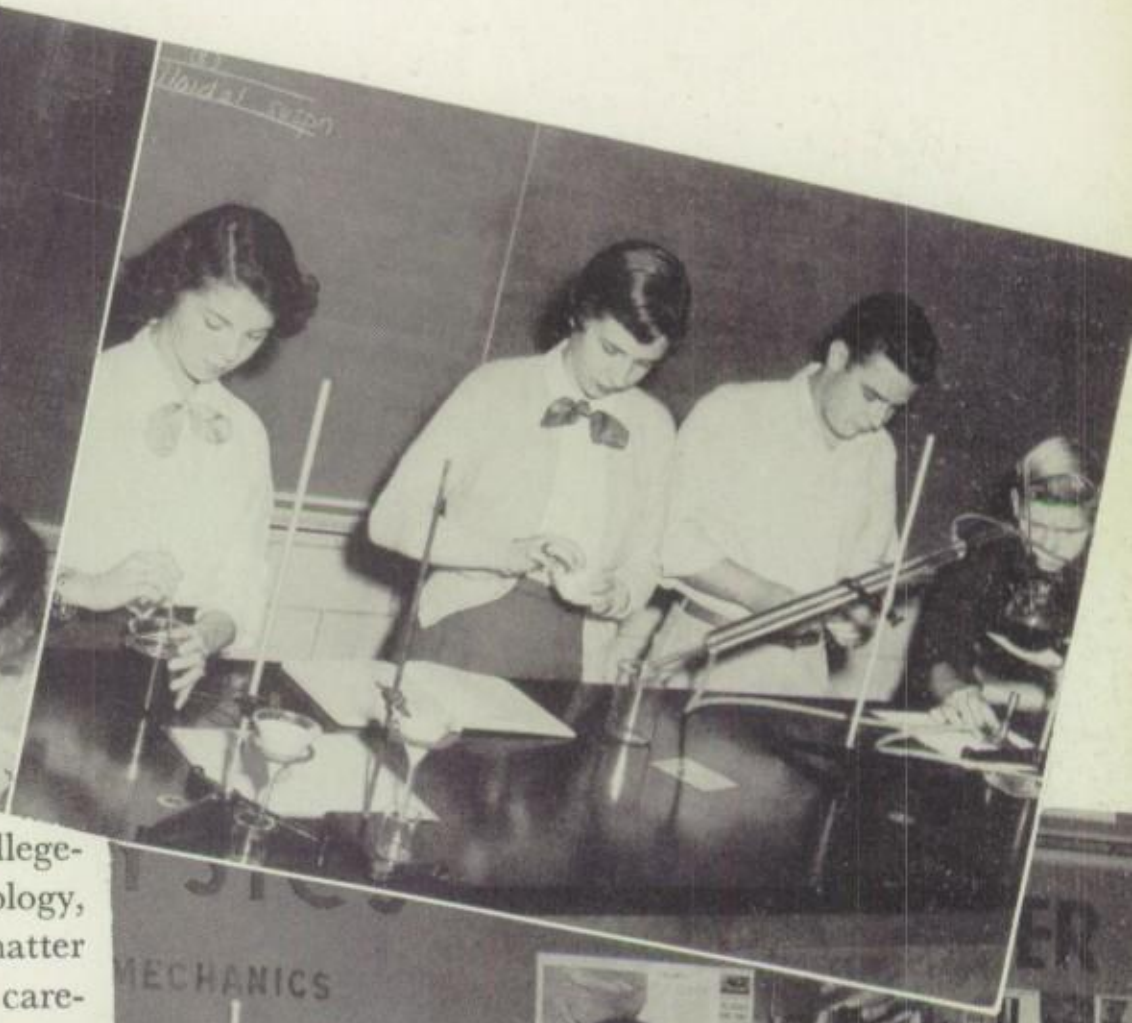
Students prepare for scientific age.





The sciences offered at Towson are planned for college-bound students and those who are business-minded. Biology, Chemistry and Physics explain the principles of life, matter and machinery. Consumer Science teaches wise and careful buying for homes and businesses.

Towson offers students Beginners, Intermediate and Advanced Algebra, Plane and Solid Geometry and Trigonometry. Review of High School Mathematics summarizes all the phases of mathematics taught in high school.

Drivers Education teaches students the operation of a car and the rules of the road.

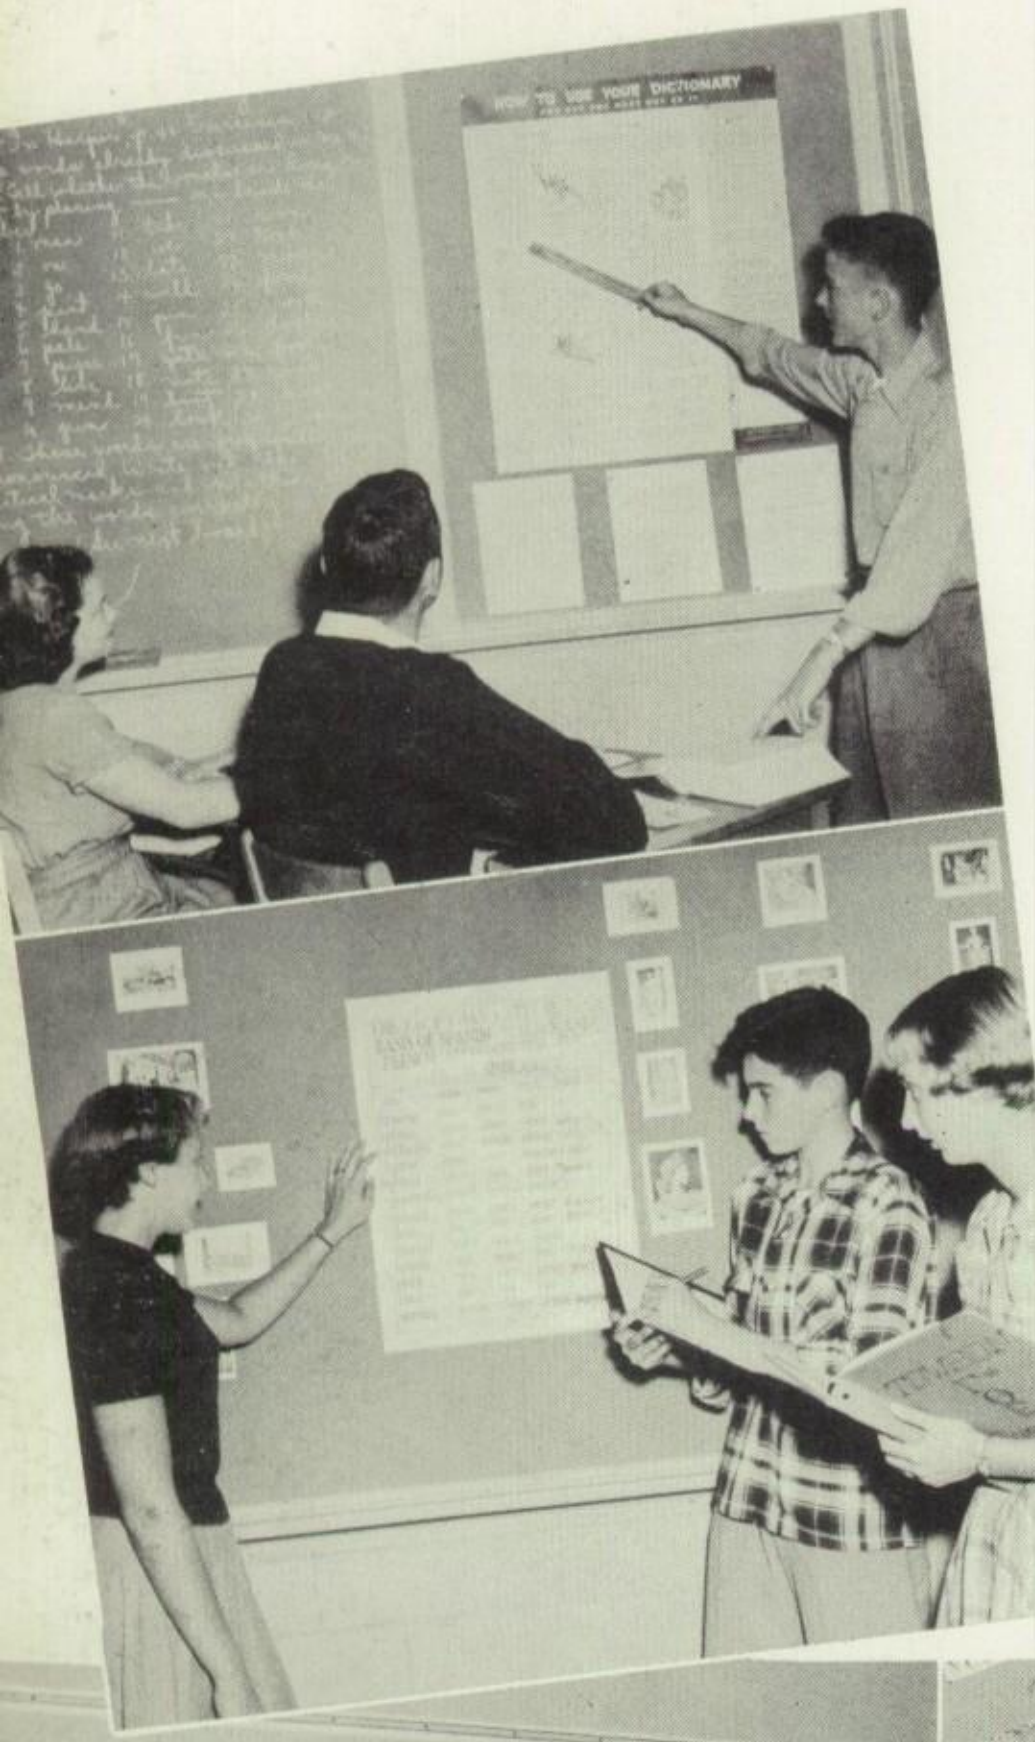
Languages are the key to understanding.



The English and language courses are designed to give students the opportunity of concentrating in the important areas of reading, writing, listening, and speaking. English is a required subject in all four years of high school. Each language is offered for a two or three year study. Any student in the senior high school may enroll.

In the tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grade courses, grammar and composition work are done according to student needs. The tenth grade includes the study of all types of literature; the eleventh grade course deals specifically with American literature and its development from colonial times to the present; and the twelfth grade course includes the study of drama, short stories, and novels. Many of the great classics are read and studied during this year.

In Latin, the stress is placed on grammar and the reading of simple Latin and the classics. In French and Spanish, conversation occupies as important a part in the course as grammar and reading. Students converse among themselves and with the teachers. Phonograph records and moving pictures are used as aids to fluency and in ear training. Through the language classes students get foreign penpals and sometimes hear speakers from foreign countries.

Art remains the universal language.

Some of the most modern art equipment is to be found in the third floor "pent house" where art rules supreme. Fundamentals in Art, and Drawing, Painting and Illustration teach the basic principles of art and the proper use of the many varied media of artistic expression. Other courses offered for more advanced students ready to specialize in some one phase of art are Costume Design and Fashion Illustration, Commercial Art, Sculpturing and Modeling, Interior Design and Advanced Painting.

Dramatics classes study the history of drama, stage design, direction of plays and make-up techniques. The class makes practical use of its knowledge in productions by the Masquers.

Fundamentals of Music teaches the basic concepts of music composition and appreciation. The pupils enjoy learning both popular and semi-classical songs.

Towson has a fine band which has played at various assemblies here and at other schools as part of an exchange program. Through the school band, pupils are introduced to and learn to play instruments which would otherwise be unavailable to them.

The study of these various forms of art gives students a foundation for a better understanding of culture.

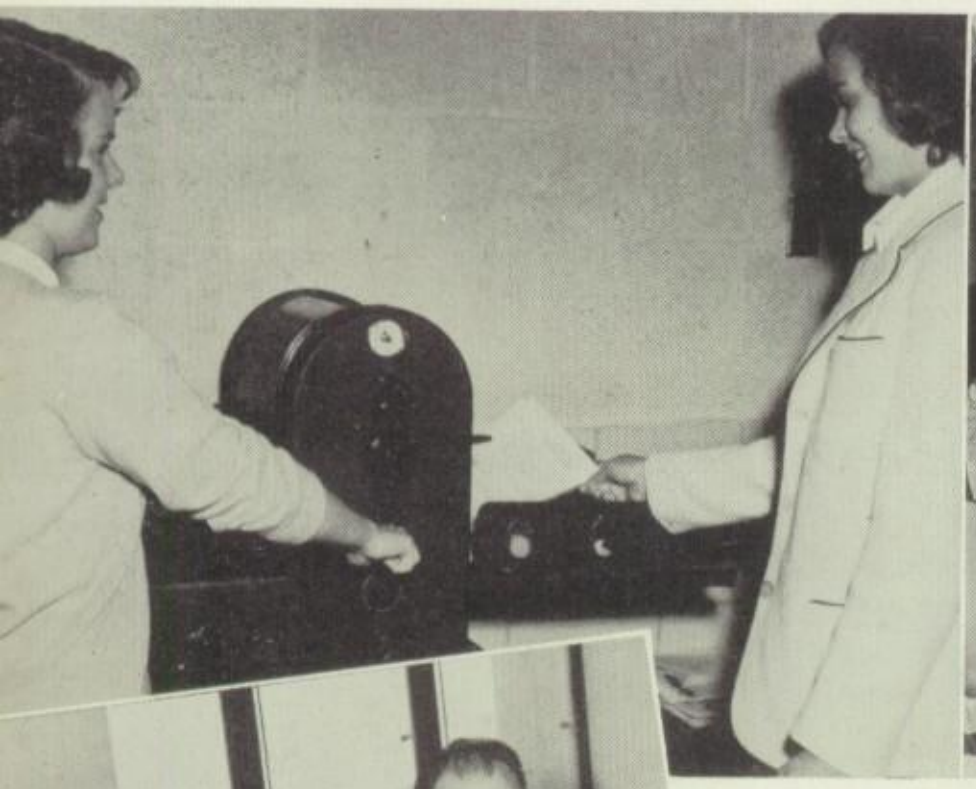
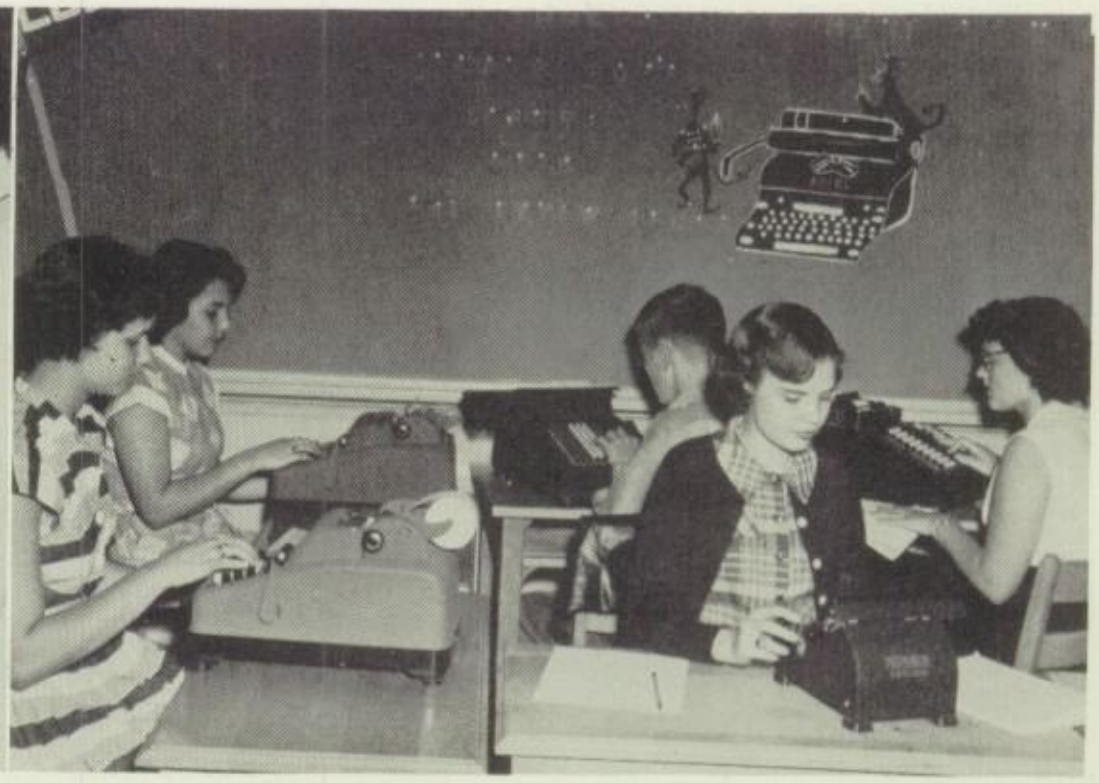
Commercial Courses build better businesses.





An efficient business education is offered to students aiming at commercial careers. Bookkeeping teaches how to keep accurate records. Office training is offered to business students who wish to obtain practical experience.

In the business department, students are taught how to operate the adding and calculating machines. Students act as salesmen in the bookstore where all kinds of school supplies are sold. The business education department acquaints future business leaders with the information they will find necessary for working in the business world.

Practical arts make learning useful.

The Home Economics Department offers girls a Home Economics Major, and major and minor courses specializing in foods and clothing. There are also the Living in the Home Course, Special Occasion Cookery, and an Interior Decoration Course.

The Industrial Arts Department offers mechanical drawing, woodwork, art and sheet metal courses, and auto shop. Useful and attractive furniture has been made in the woodwork classes, while those taking the metal courses have designed in such metals as copper, brass, and aluminum. In the auto shop the students learn all phases of mechanics dealing with the automobile.

SIDELIGHTS

The Sidelight's staff was organized in March of 1951. This was the first year a staff had been organized before the senior year. Students worked hard all summer to make the basic outlines of the book. The usual problems connected with year book preparations; patrons, photography, copy, art work and publicity were taken in stride, as was the added responsibility of training juniors for the coming year.

We wish to thank Mr. Hook's mechanical drawing class and the commercial department for their assistance in producing this annual.

TALISMAN STAFF

EDITORS Seated: J. Coyle; A. Smith; Standing: M. Stiles; N. Breidenbaugh; S. Royal.

As Towson has grown, so has the Talisman, the school's bi-monthly newspaper. This year its size was increased from four to five columns. A capable staff of juniors and seniors have worked closely with Mr. Charles Brome, the new advisor. Numbering thirty-five students, the staff was considered unusually large. There were numerous others, who wrote for Talisman for the experience only.

Talisman's purpose is to report the news of Towson High, and to reflect the thinking of the student body. There are several standing features appearing now in each issue of the paper. The staff, through news stories, features, pictures and sketches, aims to make Talisman an interesting and informative paper.

BOARD OF ELECTIONS

Helpful service given with a smile.

The end of the school year finds the Towson Athletic Association with another successful athletic year. To further school spirit, the Ninth Annual Homecoming and the Third Annual Faculty Night were held at school.

Intramural competition was encouraged by the newly organized point system. The system gave a certain number of points to each student participating. Shields and certificates were awarded when a specified total was reached.

Numerous pep-rallies proved successful and encouraged school spirit. Towson may well be proud of the Athletic Association for its many accomplishments.

The Bus Council keeps accurate clerical accounts of the students riding to and from school on buses, and sends a monthly report to the Board of Education.

The members of the Library Club check books in and out, and assist the librarian in numerous other ways.

The Locker Crew has its biggest job in September, when it issues lockers to all students. It keeps complete records of the occupants and combinations of each locker.

The Receptionists are stationed outside the guidance offices and in the main lobby. They get valuable office training in this manner.

Selecting plays, designing sets, applying grease paint, making props, acting and directing are jobs familiar to members of the school dramatic society, "Masquers." Its members are students of the dramatic classes I and II.

The organization began its season this year with the presentation of Pride and Prejudice, full length play based on Jane Austin's novel. The next production was the operetta, The Mikado, which the Masquers helped the Glee Club put on. Throughout the second semester several one-act plays were given.

Working in close association with Masquers in staging and the construction of sets was the Stage Crew under the direction of Mr. William Brennan.

Activities educate.

Music organizations at Towson High supply the school with enjoyable entertainment and offer special opportunities for many students in music education.

The Boys' Chorus and Glee Club prepare assembly program and concert numbers. The main project of the Glee Club this year was the operetta, The Mikado, done in collaboration with Masquers. Its members also sang at the Christmas play and gave a spring program. Several took part in the All Maryland Chorus. The Boys' Chorus appeared in school performances throughout the year.

A band is offered for students who are interested in instrumental music. Towson's band gave its annual spring concert, played at most of the school assemblies, and turned into a marching band for out-of-door varsity games.

By observation and practice teaching in elementary schools the members of the Future Teachers of America were able to investigate various methods of education.

The members of the Future Business Leaders of America strived to develop competent business leadership by serving both the school and the community.

For the best projects in embroidery, knitting, needlepoint, and crocheting the Needle and Stitch Club awarded a prize each half year.

The students composing the Biology Club were interested in following the study of plants and animals and specializing in animal surgery.

The Photography Club tried to advance the interest and knowledge of the students. The club furnished supplies to the members for their photographic ventures.

Learning the essentials of a car's mechanics was the purpose of both Auto Shop Clubs. The girls learned simple repairing, while the boys specialized.

The Shop Improvement Club works for the improvement of various pieces of shop equipment. They work on and observed safety conditions for working with the different machines.

The Towson Drivers' Association studied safety laws and showed several movies on the subject. The club also sponsored driving skill tests for the members.

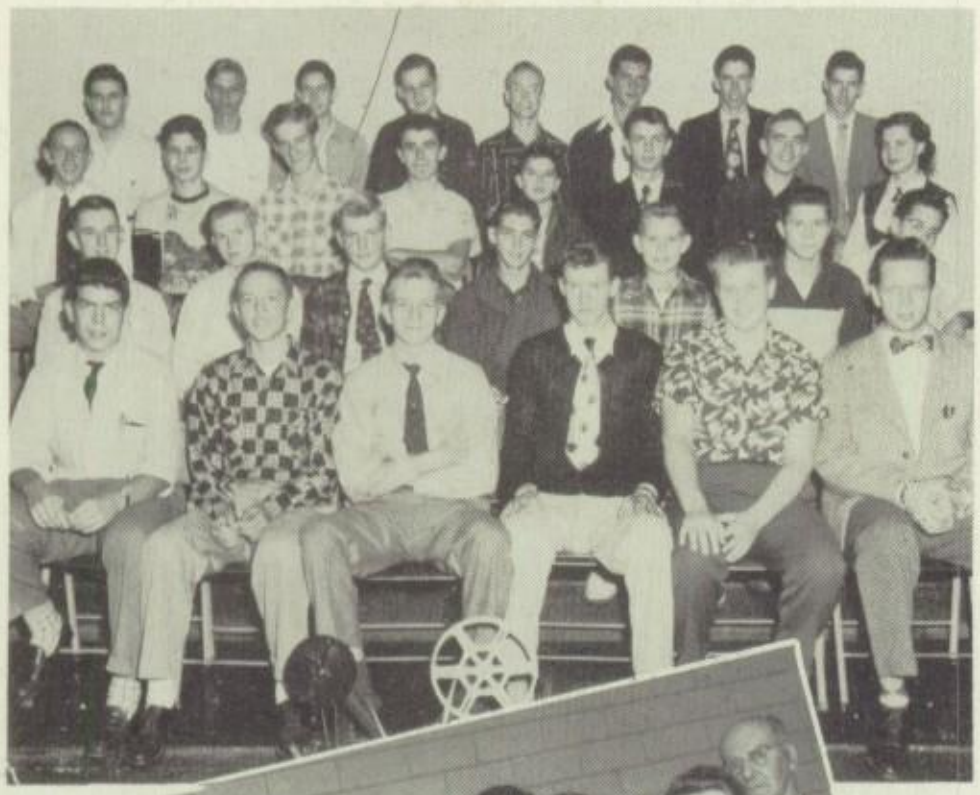
Student interests vary.



Many other clubs are available as extra-curricular activities for any students who want to take part in them. In the line of sports there are the Boys' Sports Club, the Bowling Club, and the G.A.L.S. The activities of the Boys' Sports Club included gymnastic work as well as actual team sports. The Bowling Club was divided into teams and enjoyed competing with other schools. Assisting gym teachers in conducting classes and refereeing girls' intramural games were the jobs of the Girls' Athletic Leaders' Service or the G.A.L.S.

The Projection Crew handled all the films which were shown to the school. The Radio Hams learned about radio reception and listened to short wave broadcasts.

Some very delicious foods were cooked and enjoyed by the Girls' and Boys' Cooking Clubs. The Dancing Club enabled students to learn the basic steps of ballroom dancing and the correct manners for social dances.

The Junior Red Cross Club and the United Nations Youth Club have a national and international value. The members of the U.N.Y. Club learned about current problems, the activities of the U.N. and the customs of the people of the world. The first aid and other training courses studied by the Jr. Red Cross Club permitted the members after the course to take part in civil defense projects.

Cheerleaders are an important part of the athletic program. This year Towson's cheerleaders were headed by Maggie Eney. The squad was divided into two groups; varsity and junior varsity.

Each year spring tryouts are held to instruct promising girls in the basic cheers and motions. A board of teachers acts as judge. The girls chosen serve as cheerleaders the following year. Maroon "T's" with megaphones superimposed over them are awarded to the cheerleaders each season.

The squad this year was the largest Towson has ever had and it performed its job well in helping to stir up school spirit at all the games.

A. Smith, M. Eney and M. Davis give a hearty cheer for Towson High.

We cheer the teams to victory.

Boot that ball!

Towson's '51 varsity soccer team had a very successful season. Coach Francis Reber and his assistant, Coach Evan Nardone, spent many long, hard hours working with the players. As a result, the team scored eighteen goals in competition, while their opponents scored only eight points against them. This record showed the capability of the soccer team and the high morale which resulted from the encouragement of Captain Dave Collignon and Coach Reber.

Although many outstanding varsity players graduate this year, the underclassmen show promise. Benefiting by this year's experience, they look forward to another good season next year.

The members of the junior varsity were a willing and hard working group of boys with a "never say die" attitude during the soccer season. Of the three games played, they won one, lost one, and tied one. Most of the J.V. players are planning to be on the soccer teams again next year.

Vernon Yingling

The boys' varsity basketball team was built around last year's junior varsity and the freshman-sophomore basketball team. All but one member of last year's first string squad was lost to graduation. When try-outs began in early fall there was the usual enthusiastic attendance from boys throughout the school.

Every day the team practiced after school in the gym until 5:30. The boys worked on offensive and defensive plays, and both one and two-handed shots and passes. The medicine ball, a weighted basketball, was used for conditioning.

One half of the games were played away and one half on home court. Kenwood, Milford Mill and Sparrows Point offered the stiffest competition. Several games at the beginning of the season were very disappointing, as Towson lost each game by only one point.

Benefiting from this year's experience, and with several potential stars on the junior varsity team, the basketball season next year should be even more successful.

Towson's lacrosse team will be fighting hard this season to uphold its reputation and its claim to the County Championship it won last year. Losing fifteen men to graduation is a sharp setback for any team and the outstanding feature of this year's stickmen is their youth. At present the team seems rather slow, due to the inexperience of the boys, but as the season progresses the team should become stronger and more unified. The attack, lead by Skip Carey, is stronger than the midfield, which needs considerable development. The good solid defense headed by Bill Vancura should give it the necessary time to work itself into shape. There will be only one team with adequate midfield reserves, as the two-platoon system of last year will be impossible this spring due to the lack of players.

A good future seems in prospect for the Jay Vee lacrosse team under the fine tutelage of Coach Melvin Rosenstein. This up-and-coming group of boys are anticipating a great season.

The varsity cross country team or the "Red Devils", as they have been nicknamed, had a very successful season. Runners practiced faithfully every day after school under the guidance of Coach Randolph Walker, and were well rewarded for their efforts. As in the past three years, Towson's team won the county championship, making them undefeated at all the county meets for four consecutive years.

Buz Thomas

If the outcome of the track season could be predicted by the enthusiastic turnout, Towson's Harriers would be sure to win their third County Championship. Thirty-three boys came out this spring, among them are several veterans from the previous team. Many of the boys have gained experience by running cross country in the fall.

Track does not have scheduled league games, so the team makes its own schedule, playing both city and county teams from public and private schools.

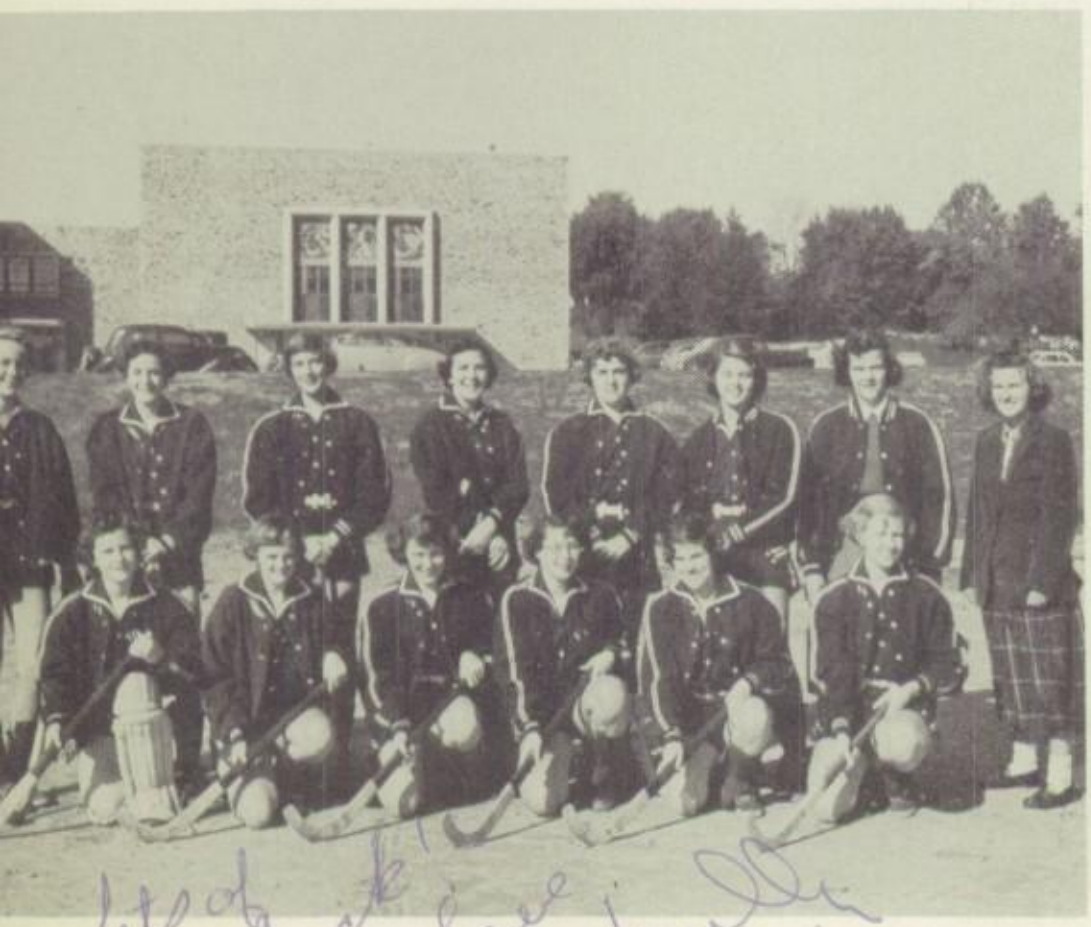
Best of Luck, Sue Hurwitz for Phyllis Linde

Under the direction of their new coach, Miss Gloria Dobihal, the girls' varsity hockey team had a good season. Only three players returned from last year's varsity team, but the new members developed rapidly into skilled players. The team won three and tied five of the eight games played. They ended the season in second place in the County League. One member of Towson's varsity squad, Phyllis Gardner, team goalie, made the Baltimore All Star Hockey Team.

The junior varsity had an equally good season, winning two games and losing one. Both teams played hard and kept their opponents on guard at all times.



Lots of Luck! Love Sue

Drop it in the basket!

As all of the first string girls' varsity basketball team graduated last year, it was necessary to develop a completely new team for the 1951-52 season. Many of this year's first string players played on second string or J.V. last year, and with practice they developed into a closely-knit team. The J.V. team had many new members also.

Running exercises got the girls into condition. Overhand, underhand, and chest passes were practiced, and single and double bounce techniques were emphasized.

The team, coached by Miss Alice Behlmer, played hard and well throughout the season.

Sock that ball!

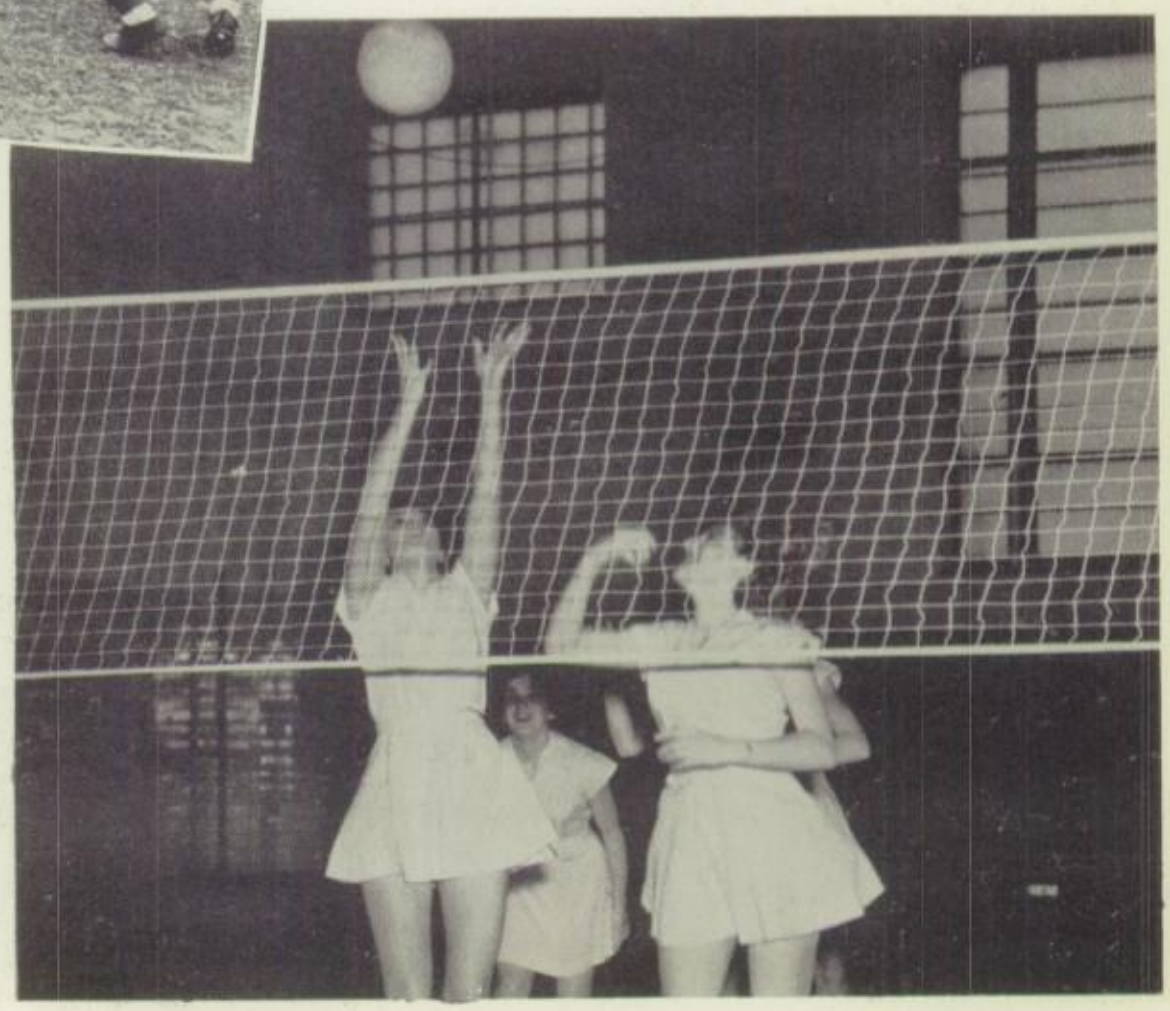
The varsity softball team practiced long and hard after school in hopes of keeping the high league standings they attained last year. This was Coach Gloria Dobihal's first year for training the softball team.

Our "national sport" was well represented at Towson. The nucleus was composed of players from last year's American Legion Championship team. A new baseball diamond was completed in the spring, which helped to keep players in high spirits.

Right—Nancy Carroll gets ready to hit the ball, while Jean Carter pitches, Joan Sevick catches, and Gloria Shaffer plays shortstop. Below—Butch Yingling strikes out after Stanley Pryor has delivered a pitch caught by Norman Norris.

Coach Alice Behlmer had a large turnout for her volleyball teams. For this reason, seniors were dropped unless they made the varsity volleyball team. The girls could be found every afternoon practicing their serves, assists, block and spike shots. The games will be played from March through May and it is hoped that the girls will win over all of their opponents.

Barbara Harvey, Beth Dewlin and Dotty McClure are making a valiant effort to return their opponents serve.



On October 31, the P. T. A. held its second annual barn dance. Those who attended enjoyed the Halloween setting of witches, pumpkins, cornstalks and a gypsy fortune teller.

Below—P. Howell and J. Hruska

A short presentation entitled "The Gifts" was chosen as this year's Christmas Play and was given to the P.T.A. on December 14. It was an imaginary account of what the boy Jesus might have done with the gifts presented to him by the three kings.

"Pride and Prejudice", a comedy of manners of the 19th century, portrayed the frantic efforts of a mother to get her five daughters married. It was given on November 29 and 30 by the Masquers.
